Senate has passed the following resolu-

Whereas, our civilization owes to the Hebrew race the exponent of our religion and the basis of our laws, and by these indissoluble bonds we must be forever bound with Israel alike in his prosperity or his misfortune, in his joys or in his sorrows; and, whereas, the genius of our Government is "human freedom," which it is our mission to establish at home and favor abroad; therefore, resolved, that our Senators in Congress be instructed, and our Representatives requested to do whatever in their discretion may seem best to bring the moral weight of the Government and the people of the United States upon the Government and the people of the German Empire, for the relief of the Jews from any oppression, for their complete equality and for that full recognition to which they are entitled by their wonderful history, their marvelous unity, their far-reaching activities, their tolerance, Lenevolence, and fidelity to the institutions under which they live whereever they are found.

Near Leadville, Col., two or three weeks ago, George Meade, a miner, was asleep alone in his cabin one night, when he was roused from his slumber by a thunderbolt that seemed to shake the universe. Going to the door he found himself a prisoner. His cabin had been buried by an avalanche. He trimmed his lamp and waited for day-break, but no daylight came. Hours were passed in horrible suspense. The air in the cabin showed signs of exhaustion. He was alive in his grave. He made up his mind that he must cut his way out. He He began at the peak of the roof, sawing a hole big enough to crawl through. Then he dropped handi. 3 of snow into his cabin, making a vertical tunnel, the sides of which he pecked with his spade. Tunneling upward cautiously for several yards he at last sniffed fresh air. Then he moved still more cautiously, and at last emerged, finding himself on a crust that would bear his his weight. A few hours' hard work brought him to an untouched cabin two miles nearer Lead

How it was Done.

"How do you manage," said a lady to her friend, "to appear so happy and good natured all the time?" "I always have Parker's Ginger Tonic handy," was the reply, "and thus easily keep myself and family in good health. When I am well I always feel good natured." Read about it in another column. m3-1m.

May Montgomery, of Charlotte, N. C., beautiful and eighteen, was driven from home by her mother because she had permitted her lover to betray her. On Sunday her dead body was found in a negro cabin on the outskirts of the city, where she had perished from cold and hunger.

An English farmer, named William Henry Norton, settled in Canada, made ready his new home and then returned to the old one for his wife and family.
